DISNEY ARTIST ATTENDING B. J. C.

The Rembrandt of the Roundup (We are drawing our conclusions from the pen and ink sketches of Fred Reik and Sherna Coffin.) was cornered approximately six paces from the flag pole yesterday for what was to be an interview.

If you've ever had someone try to talk to you when your dashing to town between classes you can understand Ken's position.

We did glean the following information however, though we affably declined to share our conviction as to its worth.

Ken La Rue was raised in Kansas where he attended the University of Kansas and where, oddly enough he took no courses in art. Before entering the Army Air Force,

CHARLES WOOD SPEAKS AT PRESS CLUB MEET

Mr. Charles Wood of the Associated Press staff was guest speaker Wednesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Press Club. Mr. Wood led a round table discussion concerning press and wire associations and their methods of work. One point stressed was that education is a good background for any newspaper work.

ees. he was employed at the Walt Disney studio in Hollywood.

It was ideal climate with football that induced him to enroll at B. J. C.

In all fairness to the gentleman, perhaps we should tell you he's the tall, dark fellow with the genial smile you've all been asking about.

BRONCO CLUB SPONSORS FIRST DANCE OF YEAR; TONIGHT AT 8:30

Ex-Servicemen Organize Club

Ex-servicemen at Boise Junior College are organizing into a club. Warren C. Willey will act as temporary chairman of the club until the elections of the club officers get underway.

Members who will draw up a temporary constitution with Willey are Bud Brown, James Stover, and Bill Wood.

Twelve veterans were present at the first meeting and others are expected to join in the near future.

Tonight at 8:30 p. m. the first dance of the year will be held in the Student Union with music to be furnished by the juke box.

Bronco Club members are sponsoring the sport affair and announce that it will be either date or stag and admission is fifty cents per person. All Boise Junior College students are invited to attend. Entertainment will be provided during the intermission.

Sherna Coffin is general chairman of the affair and his committee consists of Bronco Club members.

WOMEN AT BAT

By EILEEN MORRIS

This week we find every one sports-minded—what with the opening of the hunting season and all—so let's look over the happenings of the Women's P. E. classes.

Mary Reidel and Maxine Gross make top honors in the two o'clock Monday and Wednesday gym class. It has been said they are hard to beat when it comes to archery.

Rumor has it that Guant Dean, one of the men about college, takes a gym class at 9:00 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday with a class of girls. It seems that he made quite a hit with the others in the class and they sincerely hope that he continues to be in that class. None power to Guant if he stays with the class.

One of the busiest, and the best liked men on the campus is Bill Onweiler, sophomore, who is the present president of The Press Club and also the head man in the Bronco Club. Bill is also the secretary-treasurer of the Alpha Mu Omega, the drama club. He is business manager for the yearbook, "Les Bois".

Onweiler was one of last year's catchers on the baseball team, which gave him membership in the Bronco Club.

Bill is also one of the veterans. He was in the army four years and served 27 months in the South Pacific, mainly in Australia and New Guinea. He received his discharge in November, 1944, and entered school at the winter term last year.

He was born in Boise in 1923 and lived in Meridian, making him strictly a native Idahoan.

LET'S HAVE MORE SCHOOL SONGS

Whenever Fred Waring's choir sings any of the old college songs like "High Above Cayuga's Waters" or "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," it starts people reminiscing about "the good ole days" when they went to college.

Did it ever occur to you that when we get to be "doddering old gents and hags", and our memory starts getting weak, we won't have any such songs to rouse our failing memories? What we need is some good school songs that will stand up through the years and become traditions.

We suggest an all school serenade assembly as a means of bringing out some good B. J. C. melodies. Each club or organization might enter two numbers, an old song and a new one with all or some of the members participating. Or the program might be limited to one song each, or have individuals participating. Whatever the details are, they can be decided later; but what do you think of the idea in general?

What about it, you potential Irving Berlins? Here's your chance to use that hidden talent in a good cause.

Mac's Madness

Today's column is dedicated to the lemming sex . . . the males of B. J. C. They seem to be playing a prominent part in this argosy of fashion parade. Not just one but all nine or ten of them!

Loudest and most colorful are those Sinatra ties (I think Eddie Hoffman and Kenny Chilton trade every other day). Along the longer "line" a "few" people noticed Bill Mathisen's and, well, I hate to mention it, but did you see Mr. Wennstrom's RED zoot tie? Gee, I wish he'd finish his "stories"!

And just let your stares follow Murrell's gentle (?) swagger and Terry (oh, those last names) in uniform AND pipe. (This is for someones else's benefit!)

Last but definitely not least in this category: we call attention to Kenny LaRue and his "dreamy suits" (any relation to "Bubbles?")

I hate to do this, but it simply wouldn't do to not mention a few GIRLS, so how about, for instance, Pauline Davis, in a two piece green and white checked skirt, a green BLOUSE with NUMBERS scattered here and there, outlined in gold studs?

Some people are so smart! Two shining examples are Virginia Wheelock and Isabel Jones. Besides being lovely, they can SEW, but good too! Look at Virginia's red plaid skirt and the novel way Isabel can decorate sweaters! Gee, I wonder if they can cook?

This is just heresay on my part, but "pretty" good heresay, any way, I was told that Elvira Chaney didn't have any wasted time at

Mr. Home the other night when she wore a new black, dolman sleeved dress. The words I heard used was, quote "rrrrrrrrf!"—unquote.

For some strange reason this column always gets "cut" after it leaves my hands, so I'll fool 'em this week and stop early in the game, leaving with a happy thought about the remaining part of B. J. C.—leaving two more examples of teachers . . . Miss Tharp, and Mrs. Kallenberger, Miss "T" in a black and white check suit with gay flowers running around the borders of the jacket, and Mrs. "K" looking "artistic" in a wide shouldered black jumper trimmed in red sleeve bands.

Joe: "Say, your girl looked pretty sharp in that biblical dress she wore last night."

Jack: "What do you mean 'biblical dress?'"

Joe: "Oh, you know, sort of lo and behold."

IT'S TRUE MURDER

Mr. Nash stalked stealthily about the room, with a grade book in one hand and a cruel gleam in his eye. The girls screamed as he came toward them.

He made a mad looking swart at an unseen object. The class applauded loudly—Was he insane or just stark mad? Neither. He just hit and killed an evil looking wasp that was bothering the girls' legs.

Variety of States Represented Here

Students enrolled in Boise Junior College this year represent almost all parts of Idaho and many surrounding states. Students from nine states are enrolled in the college.

The college has attracted persons from all parts of Idaho. The towns they have come from are Twin Falls, Idaho Falls, Ustick, Ketchum, Kootenai, and many of the nearby towns such as Emmett, Nampa, Mountain Home, Cascade, Star and Meridian.

A few of the students are commuting from their homes in nearby areas, but the great majority live in Boise while attending B. J. C.

The number of students who work for board and room are very few and far below the number who have worked in previous school years.

There are both girls and boys living on the campus this year. This is the first time students have lived directly on the campus.

The figures for out-of-state students listed do not include men from Gowen Field. Service men attending this college come from over one-third of the States in the Union. New York leads in the number attending school and there are students from North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Georgia, California, Washington, Kentucky, Montana, Alabama, Illinois, Oregon, Michigan, Florida, Oklahoma, Connecticut and Arkansas.

A great big fat juicy onion to those students who persist in talking during health lectures, when we have a guest speaker.

A bouquet of orchids to those students who have so capably handled the elections we have had to date.

Onions to those students that exceed the speed limit on the campus, remember there are such things as pedestrians!

Rounds and Bush Yell Queen and King

In the election for yell leaders, that was held Monday, Mary Helen Rounds won the honor of Queen and Maxine Cummings became the yell Duchess. Bob Bush is yell King and Grant Dean was elected as yell Duke.

The yell leaders will be given and opportunity to show their ability at the game to be held next Saturday.

Other candidates for the offices were Norma Burnham, Sally McMullen and Jackie Morris.

About The Campus

Oh—the things that do go on around this campus! For instance we see that lieutenants aren't the only ones who wear bars. In support of this we offer pretty blonds "Jo" Foster as evidence. There was a silver bar pinned on her sweater. Rumor has it he's from Mountain Home.

Claire Tielman seems to be helping Jo care for the Lieutenants from Mountain Home.

And while we're on the subject of Lieutenants (and who wants to get off the subject?) did you notice them clustering around Arlene Emery at the Officers Club the other night?

A Boise man back from two years in the Air Corps is enrolled in B. J. C. Welcome, Frank Leonard.

Sherm Coffin and Virginia

at the Mhagar Saturday night. And a week ago Sherm was jitterbugging with Pat Boyer. That boy really gets around!

We would like to add, in closing a word to anyone who would like to shoot the author of this column. A double line forms to the right, and you'll have to get in line.

"QUALITY CLEANERS AND DYERS"

Bethel Reynolds tells us that the G. I. visitors who line the walls of the gym during her gym class distract the girls and they can't keep their mind on the game. He sort of wishes they wouldn't come around—but there was a reamy gleam in her eye when he said it, so nothing is being done about the visitors.

The football game at Nampa, Friday, was attended by several of the girls from B. J. C. It might be interesting to find out how they returned home. It sounded like everyone had a good time hooking ideas home. It's all in the game, they said.

The W. A. A. Initiation is to be held the 24th of this month and at this time all the new members of the club will become legal members.

The W. A. A. calendar is made out and the first event will be the Barn Dance. This dance will be in the future either in the latter part of November or the first part of December. It will be the first all school activity sponsored by the W. A. A. and has possibilities of being a big affair.

Monday the group started the volley ball season and hopes to become good enough to win over outside competition.

Thelma Stewart and Gail Coffin are going in for the "two turns around the gym" routine with great zest. Stew says she has to get her wind back before the basket ball season opens and from the way she puffs it sounds like a good idea. Gail does the round so she can keep in practice.

That is about all for this week so let's keep pitching until next week when we see the happenings of Women at Bat.
